Ballad Singers Appear Here in Concert

FRANCES ARCHER AND BEVERLY GILE

A Texan and a native daughter of California picked each other out of a girls quintet in 1950, and the happy combination became an overwhelming entertainment success.

Frances Archer and Beverly Gile, with a guitar and a repertoire of folk ballads in 11 languages, will appear Saturday night in the Administration Building auditorium at West Texas State College under auspices of the Canyon Community Concert Association. Admission is by membership only. Blonde Frances Archer, a native of Corpus Christi, spent her happiest childhood hours attending the opera in San Antonio. Always interested in music, she won a district music meet award for her clear soprano voice and was active in community glee clubs, school trios and quartets and church choirs.

Red-haired contralto Beverly Gile, born in Los Angeles, picked out music as a career early, too. She took harmony and theory courses in school and began private voice studies at 15. Strangely, her professional debut was made as a dancer in a Hollywood Bowl production.

And then they joined the quartet. Both were serious students of singing and both were eager to prove themselves as worthy musicians and vocalists. And they discovered that their two voices blended particularly well. To set about finding songs in which they could merge their talents and bring to audiences a sense of their own love of music.

Miss Gile had a guitar. She couldn't play it especially, but she had one and it gave the girls a clue to their future.

They loved folk music, thought it was fine to sing folk music, and the next thing you know, Miss Gile was taking guitar lessons from Vincente Gomez. Miss Archer spent her time looking for suitable and different songs, and the team of Archer and Gile was born.

The two spent two years polishing their performance. They took further voice lessons, guitar lessons, harmony, theory and interpretation. Exhaustive research in folk music of all nations teamed with their other studies.

Firmly established as particularly bright stars in their chosen field, the team is becoming a national favorite. They have made a number of nationwide television appearances, including the Arthur Godfrey Show, Dave Garraway's "Today," the Ford Foundation's "Omnibus," and Walt Disney's "Mickey Mouse Club."

They have performed many times for radio audiences and are recording stars for Walt Disney Productions. Their popular concert recitals now take them to all parts of the North American continent.

And they really are popular. Witness:

"They are comely, beautifully groomed and groomed young ladies who have a way with a song. Their style, their rhythm, the very color of their voices change as they revel through assorted countries, centuries and languages. Their way is communicative, too, and personal." —The New York Times.

Their style is "a departure from the small-voiced whispering type of ballad singing" with "direct humor, clear diction and expressive quality." —Los Angeles Herald and Express.

"Miss Archer and Miss Gile should go far in their chosen field, for they have the skill and innate feeling of the best folk singers." —Los Angeles Times.

When not singing and strumming a guitar, Miss Gile likes to play a dulcimer. She browses in book and record stores and likes to sleep, ride horseback, read, attend the theater and help with the care of a cat named Horatio. Her favorite music: the symphonies of Beethoven and Sibelius.

Miss Archer loves caring for animals and especially of Horatio, a musically discriminating animal. She also likes to cook and relax by the sea. Miss Archer is partial to the music of Mozart and Puccini.

Sale Follows Judging in Afternoon; Grass Contest Offered During Show

Fat steers, pigs and lambs will crowd the city barns beginning Friday afternoon as the 10th annual Randall County Junior Livestock Show gets underway. Judging of the animals will begin Saturday morning and the sale will be held during the afternoon. In conjunction with the show, a grass identification contest will be held under the joint sponsorship of the association and the Randall-Potter Soil Conservation District.

County Raises Salaries of Five

Salaries for five courthouse workers were raised by the Randall County Commissioners Court Monday as the salary schedule of the county was set.

Four of the raises were $25 a month each and the fifth was $15 a month. In addition, Mrs. J. T. Harp was hired to replace Mrs. Pete Donnell as secretary to the Criminal District Attorney.

The court authorized A. W. Lair to write officials of the Santa Fe in regard to establishing crossing signals at the railroad-farm to market crossing about 1 1/2 miles south of Canyon High School.

H. A. Shaw of Amarillo appeared before the court requesting a settlement be made for his property needed for the Amarillo to Canyon expressway. Shaw said he had been offered $1500 by the county's appraisers and would settle for $2500, although he said he believes he would be damaged $5300.

His property is north of Bell Avenue, however, and the commissioners told Shaw they were not buying any right of way north of Bell. Last fall the highway department requested all the land from Canyon to Bell be purchased first.

The commissioners court set two terms for the Randall County Court. The first term will commence on the first Monday in January and will last until the first Monday in July. The second term begins the first Monday in July and ends the first Monday in January.

The court was notified by L. A. Kerr that the new courthouse annex would be ready for inspection prior to acceptance next Monday.

Mass Said for Billy Schmitz

Funeral mass for William (Billy) Schmitz was said Saturday morning in St. Anne's Catholic Church by Father William Hammond.

Palbearers were Toni Rossi, John Deitz, Lee Jesko, A. H. Simon, Ed Szydlowski and Dan Vorwald. Burial was in Dreamland Cemetery under the direction of Warren-LaGrone Funeral Chapel.

Mr. Schmitz, 73, died Thursday morning in his home. He had lived here since 1909.

A retired welder, Mr. Schmitz was born in Tonic, Ill., Oct. 29, 1883. He was a member of the Catholic Church.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Anna Schmitz; a son, George Schmitz, Amarillo, four daughters, Mrs. George Vorwald, Bloomington, Wis., Mrs. A. J. Jesko, Muishoe, Mrs. Dan Gerald, Irving, and Mrs. Kenneth Erwin, Canyon; two brothers, Frank Schmitz and Nicholas Schmitz, both of Streeter, Ill.; and three sisters, Mrs. Mary Strack, Leonore, Ill., Mrs. Carl Putz, Tonic, Ill., and Mrs. Urban Lechner, Lonestant, Ill.

Getting the Pigs Ready

Dwayne Massey, left, and John Winter work with pigs being fed at the FFA feedlot northwest of town. The pigs will be entered in the Randall County Junior Livestock Show.

The junior livestock show is divided into three departments, Beef Cattle, Swine and Sheep. Bruce Winn is superintendent of the Beef Cattle Department, John Cook of the Swine Department and Newton Crain of the Sheep Department. Glenn Dowlen is general superintendent of the show.

In the Beef Cattle Division, cash prizes are offered for winners in three classes, the grand and reserve championships, showmanship and calf record book divisions.

In the three classes, light, heavy and group of two, prizes will be $10 for first, $9 for second, $8 for third, $7 for fourth, $6 for fifth, $6 for sixth, $4 for seventh, $3 for eighth and all other placings.

The grand champion of the show will receive $20 and $10 will go to the reserve champion. In the showmanship award, $5 will go for first and $2 for second. In the calf record book contest, $10 will go for first, $7.50 for second and $5 for third.

In the Swine Department, cash awards will be offered in 13 classes, showmanship and record books. Ribbons will be awarded to the champion pig in each breed.

The classes are light and heavy Hampshire, light and heavy Poland China, light and heavy Spotted Poland China, light and heavy Durocs and light and heavy cross-breeds.

In those classes, cash awards are to be $5 for first, $4 for second, $3 for third, $2.50 for fourth and $1.50 for fifth and all other placings.

The same award schedule will apply to the pen of three division and litters fed and shown by one exhibitor.

The grand champion pig of the show will receive $10 and the reserve champion will get $5.

The award for showmanship will be $5 for first, $2 for second. In the record book division, $10 will go to first, $7.50 for second and $5 for third.

In the Sheep Department, there will be four classes of competition, each with the same award schedule. They will be Southdown or Southdown Cross single entries, Southdown or Southdown Cross group of three, other breeds and crossbreeds single entries and other breeds and crossbreeds group of three.

Cash awards in the divisions will be $5 for first, $4 for second, $3 for third, $2.50 for fourth and $1.50 for fifth and other placings.

J. O. Parker is president of the association, Tom Black, vice president and Duane Howard secretary-treasurer.

Chairmen of the committees are C. E. Thompson, sales, W. E. Miller, finance and membership, James Bible, show arrangements and grounds, Richmond Hales, sales, and John Brazzil, publicity.

Auctioneers are Richmond Hales, Bill Wilson and Meade Michael. Clerks will be Lee Foster, Joe Gibson and Ray McReynolds. The catalogue committee is G. D. Inman, T. L. Devin and John Brazzil.

Assisting Winn in the Beef Cattle Department are C. V. Conatser and Ralph Ruthart. Assistants to Cook in the Swine Department are Louis G. Henders, Emil Olson and Jesse Hicks. Helping Crain in the Sheep Department are Lonnie Byars and Ed Wieck.

Telethon Set for Saturday Night

Saturday, beginning at 10 p. m., the March of Dimes Telethon will begin on Channel 10, KFDD-TV. Jack Walker, county television director for the polio drive, has contacted two vocal groups to appear on the telethon from Canyon.

The Chapel Belles, girls sextet, will sing. The girls are Wanda Rogers, Mayla Atkinson, Rachel Smith, Joy Gray, Janis Wright and Beverly Jean Henson. Accompanist is Diane Prichard.

The Harmonettes, college girls trio which will appear, is composed of Pat Jackson of Hereford, Janice Ruth, Dalhart, JoAnn Stanaland, Tulia, and Mary Ann Buecker is the pianist.

The local telephone center will be Thompson Hardware at OL-5-2525. Telephone calls and collections will be handled by the Lions Club, Rotary Club, fire department, city police and the sheriff's department.

Carl Hair is visiting his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Hair, in Pawnee, Texas, this week.

Women Announce as Candidates For Two School Board Positions

Mrs. R. A. Neblett and Mrs. Clay Cooper have agreed to allow their names to be presented as candidates for the two vacancies which will occur on the school board this spring.

They are taking this action at the request of a nominating committee drawn from among representatives of numerous women's organizations in the Canyon school district.

These representatives met Thursday afternoon in the conference room at the college library after reading the editorial in the Canyon News which suggested that the community would welcome women on the school board.

The chairman of the AAUW education committee called the meeting to order and the women voted to accept the challenge in the editorial. Following a discussion of desirable qualifications for a school board member, the group elected a nominating committee of five. Next each person present submitted names of several suitable candidates and Mrs. Neblett and Mrs. Cooper were selected from the lists.

Mrs. Neblett is the wife of Dr. R. A. Neblett, and has two children, Dorothy, a student at the University of Texas, and Charles, a senior in Canyon High School. She is a member of the Presbyterian Church and is active in district.

Plans Are Made For Youth Nights

Plans are nearing completion for the February Community Recreation nights.

The junior high school night will be Feb. 1, and the senior high students will have their social Feb. 2. Recreation will be in the National Guard Armory as it was for the first program.

Membership cards can be purchased through the student council.

church and committee work.

Mrs. Neblett was the first president of the Canyon Community Concert Association and is a member of Woman's Book Club.

Mrs. Cooper is the wife of Clay Cooper, and they have one son, Charles, a senior in high school. She is a member of the First Baptist Church, the Canyon Chapter of AAUW, Sue Hite Club, Business and Professional Women's and is presently corresponding secretary for District 8 of Texas P-TA.

New Instructor Joins WT Faculty

A new instructor in business administration will assume duties Jan. 29, when the second semester begins at West Texas State College, President James B. Cornette has announced.

Donald E. Vaughn, a graduate of North Texas State College, will begin teaching in the School of Business, with major field in finance. He earned his B.B.A. in 1953 and his M.B.A. in 1955.

Vaughn, who is married, was discharged this week from the Army. He had been stationed for the past year at Leesville, La., where he was a personnel specialist.

Buffalo Band Schedules Annual Pops Concert Sunday Afternoon

Highlighted by three selections from familiar Broadway, movie and television shows of 1956, the West Texas State College Concert Band will present its first concert Sunday at 4:30 p. m. in the Administration Building auditorium. The public is invited, with no admission charge.

Conducted by M. J. Newman, head of the WT music department, the 85-piece band will play the familiar "March of the Siamese Children" by Rodgers from the Broadway play and movie, "The King and I."

The group will also play Rodgers "Victory at Sea" from the television production, and "The Man with the Golden Arm" from the movie of the same title.

Other selections planned are "Fanfare and Allegro" by Williams; the "Scherzo" from Symphony No. 5 by Shostakovich; the "Finale" from Tchaikovsky's "Symphony No. 4;" "El Gato" by Aguirre; and the three-movement "Railroad Suite" by Mitchell.

Concluding numbers are "The President's March" by Fillmore and "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise" by Alford.

George H. Reining Buried in Amarillo

Funeral mass for George H. Reining, father of Mrs. Walter Simon of Canyon, was to be said at 9:30 this morning in St. Lucien's Chapel in Amarillo with the Rev. L. T. Matthieson officiating.

Burial was to be in Llano Cemetery.

Mr. Reining, 66, died Sunday in St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo, where he had lived for the past 10 years. He was a retired farmer.

In addition to Mrs. Simon, survivors include three sons, another daughter, a brother, four sisters and 12 grandchildren.

Eagles Meet Tulia Here Friday In District 1-AA Basketball

The Canyon High School basketball team has a chance to make their district record hit the 666 mark Friday night when they meet Tulia in the high school gym.

The Eagles lost to Muleshoe 59-48 last Friday, but thumped Dalhart 50-47 Tuesday night. A. L. Pruett took the lead in the win over Dalhart, making 27 points to head the scoring list.

In the Muleshoe games, Muleshoe also beat the B-team 59-56 and the Girls team, 47-46.

Against Dalhart, the B-team beat the Wolves 55-46, but the girls lost to Dalhart, 35-31.

School Certified in Southern Association

Canyon High School has received a certificate from the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools showing accreditation for the school year 1956-57. The school has been a member for the past six or seven years, according to Principal J. E. Miller.

Accreditation in the association permits graduates of Canyon High to attend any college in the association without being required to take remedial work or entrance examinations.

'Hail to the Chief...'

"Good morning ladies and gentlemen. Welcome to Clovis Air Force Base for the President's Drouth Inspection tour. I am Major Anderson from Ninth Air Force Information Service and I'm here to help the information services officer from this base.

"We're here now for a briefing on the President's visit to this area. First we'll go through the schedule of events. The first thing is a briefing. That's what we are having now.

"Next, beginning at 11 a. m. we have arranged for you to lunch here in the officers club mess or in the PX snack bar. By noon, all cars must be cleared from in front of the officers club. That is being required by the secret service, not by us. I suppose if you don't move your car, they will tow it off.

"At 1 p. m. we will assemble in this room again and leave immediately for the flight line. We have arranged for busses to take you to the flight line and you will load on the busses through the door at the rear of the room. Following the President's arrival you will follow on his tour of the area in the same busses.

"Here on the board we have a drawing. Will those who can see it hold up their hands. This rounded line represents the wing of the President's plane, Columbine III. This square represents the ramp and this the honor guard.

"Here will be the area for the press. Still photographers will stand in front and movie and television photographers will stand on the trailer that will be parked there. Please do not move outside the roped area.

"The band, from the Ninth Air Force, will play Ruffles and Flourishes and Hail to the Chief. As you gentlemen know, that is the same as if we were playing the Star Spangled Banner. Of course you will be in civilian clothes and will not salute as we do, but you will stand with your hat or your right hand over your heart. Are there any questions?"

"The question is, what type of airplane is the President's plane? The Columbine III is a Super Constellation."

And with that, newspaper, radio and television people from all over the Panhandle and Eastern New Mexico were ready to see President Eisenhower fly into Clovis Monday afternoon, ride around a half-dozen miles and fly away again.

EDITORIAL

Views and Comments

Signs of our times:

Want ad in the Amarillo paper—"Donate to relief by earning extra money at home. It's new—It's different—It's legitimate! Investigation pays. Procrastination loses! Postal brings details."

In 1937 there were 141 income tax returns from Randall County, 71 from residents of the city of Canyon and 70 from those who lived in the rest of the county. I suppose there would be upwards of 5,000 returns from Randall County this year. This taxing business has spread around, hasn't it?

Things to do in the near future:

Before Jan. 31—Pay your Poll Tax
Before Jan. 31—Pay County, School and City taxes.
Before April 15—Figure out and pay your personal income tax.

Before April 1—Have your car inspected and get safety inspection sticker attached.

Between Feb. 1 and April 1—Get new license tags for your car.

Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine, says 1957 is going to be a rough year for those who want to buy houses. It says you will face problems that have not bothered those who bought homes in previous years.

The key problem will be financing. There is a serious shortage of money to borrow and it's going to be harder to get a loan. And even if you find one, you'll have to pay a stiffer rate. And it looks like the cost of building will be higher, the magazine says.

So that's what will be facing home buyers this year. Two new problems of higher cost and difficulty in finding money to borrow.

That still leaves the biggest problem, the one that has faced buyers in past years—finding enough money to pay for what you've bought.

The annual Randall County Junior Livestock show coming up this weekend provides another chance for the citizens of the county to lend a helping hand to youth. Your participation in the show and the sale after the judging might be just the boost that will make the difference between a successful youngster and a frustrated one.

Be sure to go by the city barns while all the stock is there. Even if you don't know any more about stock than I do, the sight of all those well-fed animals and eager faces will do you good.

Last year, too, the day of the show was marked by a bit of moisture in the form of drizzle and a few flakes of snow.

One of the top projects being set for the Chamber of Commerce this year is the development of a more adequate water supply for the city of Canyon. The chamber plans to work on obtaining Buffalo Lake as a long range plan, and the more immediate problem of better wells.

The chamber will be reminding everyone that regardless of the source of water, it will have to be financed through the sale of bonds, and the bonds will have to be provided for by an election.

I visited in the chamber office for less than an hour Thursday afternoon, and while I was there three people came in looking for a place to live.

The first was a lady who needed a two-bedroom furnished house or apartment. Her husband is an employee of the Austin Bridge Company, which has contracts for bridges on the highway work in the area. They expect to be here at least a year, and have moved from Dallas.

The second to come in is another addition to the Continental seismograph crew that moved here the first of December. Roland Black said that 25 families had been moved here by the company, and I suppose the latest ones make 26. They came here from Denver, and did not say how long they might stay.

The third was an insurance salesman from Amarillo. He says Amarillo is getting too hard for him to live in, and wants to move to a smaller place. With three children, he needed a three-bedroom place. In addition to looking for a place to rent, he asked about building costs and real estate values and the like. He said he and his wife thought they might rent here until they found out how they liked Canyon, and if they did, they would probably build a new home or buy an older one.

And that's how the town is growing. Some days it looks like leaps and bounds and other days it seems slow. One thing about it, those people moving here for the oil exploration and highway work aren't interested in living in any old place that comes to hand. They want something nice—just as does the insurance salesman from Amarillo who is looking for another town in which to settle.

I see where Princess Margaret is fixing to get into another hassle because she is advising a man-friend about the decoration of his townhouse.

She's helping Billy Wallace, the last bachelor of her original social set. She's not decorating the house, "Princesses don't, you know," but she's giving him advice.

And out of that, some people in England are thinking maybe she's interested romantically in Billy Wallace, and others say that Billy Wallace is fixing to marry someone else. Says Billy Wallace, "Me married? Well, if that day ever comes, the news will come from the girl, not me."

Added to the board of regents for Texas State Teachers Colleges, the governing board of West Texas State, are Richard Stovall, Floydada, C. S. Ramsey, San Augustine, and William Brown, Texarkana.

The board now has Henry Sears of Hereford and Mr. Stovall as representatives from this part of the state.

A Sunday School teacher sought to give her class a lesson in brotherhood.

"Now, children," she said in her pedagogic best, "you should know and always keep in mind that Jesus was a Jew."

Returning to his home, one small lad was mixed up in his thinking and tried to tell his mother what he had learned that day. He told that Jesus was a Jew, but added after reflection, "I suppose God is still a Presbyterian."

Two ladies from Boston were sightseeing in California on a very warm day.

"It never gets like this in Boston," remarked one, fanning herself rapidly.

"Of course not," returned the other. "But you have to remember that here we are more than 3,000 miles from the ocean."

Austin is in its every-other-January whirl. Inaugural festivities on the 15th will climax two weeks of fanfare traditional to the premiere of a new state administration.

Dear Editor;

As Ike was flying over the Golden Spread, He tilted his halo way back on his head, Looked down on us mortals in the old dust bowl As he said unto Ezra, "Why bless my soul; These farmers come into town three times a day It isn't a wonder they can't make it pay. They are as shiftless a lot as you can find. We will make them get up off their old behind. They can get out and work at some other job. With their little game we are going to play hob. They have been coddled in their kennels long enough. From here on out we will start getting tough. Like hunting dogs let them get out and hustle. It won't hurt them a bit to flex their muscle. Too long have they been fed at the public trough. And now we will show them just where to get off." No use dreaming of the good old days gone by. Get up off your fannies, it's root hog or die. Things look rather dark but then they could be worse. 'Twould seem quite dreary without this bit of verse. Farmer Schaeffer Poet Stepped-up tempo in the Capitol began New Year's Day when scores of new officials took the oath of office. It redoubled this week as gavels banged in another Legislature.

Next week thousands more will arrive to "dance in the new governor." Their 1957 inaugural invitations are unusually elaborate—gold-embossed and purple-tasled. Forty thousand were printed.

Other arrangements are similarly lavish. An hour-long parade will precede the high noon swearing-in ceremony in front of the Capitol. In the afternoon there'll be a band concert, then a reception at the Capitol. That evening Gov. and Mrs. Price Daniel and Lt. Gov. and Mrs. Ben Ramsey will lead the grand march of state officials and their wives at the chief inaugural ball at Gregory Gymnasium. From there the official party will make a round of the four other balls over town.

Citizens of Austin pick-up the check for this biannual spree. Estimated cost this year: $15,000.

New Land Board
Land Commr. Earl Rudder begins his first elective term with a re-organized board.

Sworn in with Rudder were William Gossett, El Campo banker, and L. E. Page of Carthage, former state commander of the American Legion.

A new constitutional amendment dropped the governor and attorney general as ex-officio board members. Instead, the governor is required to appoint two "citizens at large," one versed in finance, the other in veterans affairs.

Board members immediately went to work on the new $100,000,000 bond issue for veterans land buying as authorized in the same amendment.

Wilson Promises State Support
New Attorney General Will Wilson promised to "consistently support state sovereignty" in cases where federal-state authority is at issue.

Wilson said his office would seek to protect school officials and students from violence and intimidation stemming from desegregation efforts.

He also promised to push completion of the Duval County and veterans land cases begun by his predecessor, John Ben Shepperd.

Official Change-About
Will Wilson's resignation as Supreme Court justice last summer touched off a chain reaction.

Results: James R. Norvell of San Antonio is the new Supreme Court justice. He was elected.

H. D. Barrow of Jourdanton was appointed by Gov. Shivers to succeed Norvell as associate justice of the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals at San Antonio.

John F. May of Karnes City was appointed by Shivers to succeed Barrow as judge of the 81st district court.

Richard L. Dobie Jr. of Cotulla was appointed to succeed May as 81st district attorney.

Gov. Shivers also named L. D. Ratliff of Spur as judge of the 110th district court. And more than a score of others were appointed to state agencies, commissions and college boards.

Another appointee, John Osorio of Austin, was elected chairman of the Board of Insurance Commissioners immediately after taking office as a member.

Also in the swearing-in news, through a novel coincidence, were two old hands. Supreme Court Justice Robert Calvert administered the oath to State Comptroller Robert Calvert. No kin.

Shepperd Bows Out

He will be general counsel for extensive West Texas and New Mexico oil and banking interests. And definitely no more politics, said Shepperd, who didn't run for re-election. He said he returned more than $11,000 sent him in one day only, for a U. S. Senate campaign.

Securities Change Sought
A separate department to oversee sale of securities has been recommended to Gov. Allan Shivers by a committee he named to study the matter several months ago.

Securities are now regulated by divisions of the Secretary of State's office and the Board of Insurance Commissioners.

Broader power for the state to deny or revoke licenses was also recommended.

Water Tax Okayed
Last minute efforts are under way to firm up recommendations to the Legislature for financing Texas water storage facilities.

A water use tax has been approved by the Texas Water Resources Committee. A proposal to levy taxes on fishermen has been shelved.

Sportsmen went gunning for the latter measure at a public hearing. They said the proposed levies on boats, motors and licenses would fall on a few, to benefit all; would discriminate against sporting equipment dealers; and would divert customers to other states.

Chairman George Parkhouse of Dallas conceded later that the boating and fishing tax was dead—at least for the time being.

Given approval was a water use tax which would require a constitutional amendment. Uses subject to the tax would include irrigation and hydro-electric power, as well as others. Expected revenue was figured at nearly $2,000,000 annually.

Senator Parkhouse said he would also seek diversion of about $5,000,000 a year from farm-to-market road funds.

Short Snorts
President Eisenhower, slated to visit West Texas on his "drought tour" next week likely will find plenty of dust. U. S. Dept. of Agriculture reports improved pasturage due to rains in the eastern two-thirds of the state, but downhill conditions in the west.

Texas Railroad Commission set the state's January oil allowable at 3,421,058 barrels a day, same as for December. Statewide production remains at 16 days.

Texas hunting fatalities dropped from 35 in 1955 to 18 in 1956, reports the Game and Fish Commission. Of the 1956 deaths, six were self-inflicted; 11 involved teen-agers.

Cherry Blossoms

BY DOVIE CHERRY

Behold, readers, you are witnessing the most proclaimed infamous fault of the female mind, or it has been said so at least, and that is indecision. Not all women are this way, thank goodness, but I might as well fess up that I'm afflicted with indecision of the worst type.

In case you're puzzled, all this true confession is about this column title. First, I couldn't decide among several suggested by readers, so I picked one of my own. Now I don't like it at all.

I've decided that it is about as appealing and exciting as cold gravy. So, with blushing cheeks and a gulp, a few pecks on the typewriter, it was done. Cherry Blossoms it is, as suggested by Erme and Don Herrell of Los Angeles, Calif.

Besides, the readers didn't like it, and, as I requested, they told me so quite candidly. "I don't like the name you chose for your column," they said. No interpretive introduction and no artful aftermath, just a plain old, straightly stated fact. Bouquets to you. That's the stuff.

Why is it that the minor decision of life, those not involving a matter of life and death, cause such fuss and the major decisions are made so much more rapidly and with such better judgment?

Mrs. Murray Boston has a mystery which she wishes someone would help her solve. She has been trying to solve it ever since Christmas and hasn't had any success. She says someone left a mincemeat pie on her cabinet on Christmas Day while she and her husband were gone, and she can't get anybody to confess. "The pie was very good," she said, and would like to thank someone.

Aren't you glad you cleaned house before the weekend? Grrr! Oh, well, the dust made near-balm Friday and Saturday more appreciable. I bet just one big duster during President Eisenhower's tour of the drought regions would be impression enough.

Other than the dust, the weather hasn't been bad at all and that's the trouble. Ah for a big, nasty snowstorm. To prove the weather hasn't been bad, just watch for one of the fat, red-breasted robins that are staying here on top of the plains during the winter or watch for the woodpecker around the courthouse.

Interior decorating must be a work that challenges the creative best in a person. Mrs. Marie Goynes of Studio of Interior Decorating in Amarillo, who spoke last week in Canyon, finds it so.

Mrs. Goynes, who has been in decorating work since 1939, told of the differences in home then and now. Families today "want to be comfortable, to be practical, to be modern," she said.

In comparison, homes of yesterday were straight, delicate and weren't liveable. The company impression was the important thing, Mrs. Goynes said.

The change came when parents found their children out on the streets, as mode of living progressed and home stayed orderly and uncomfortable, she believes. "It starts in the home when we have delinquent children," the decorator said. So home began to be more liveable.

First went the living room in favor of the den or all-purpose room. Then came colors and such interior building materials as brick which is sturdy, has warmth and is easily kept. "Color has one of the most vital effects in our civilization," this observant decorator remarked.

Color used in clothes one season will be seen the next season in drapes and other decorating fabrics. The reason, according to Mrs. Goynes, is because women, and men, become accustomed to those colors as they meet and wear them everyday. It takes two years for the colors to catch on in Amarillo, though, she said.

Mrs. Goynes was quite enthusiastic about the improved materials available now. After the war, rayon came out first, then nylon, which will stretch four times its original size when cold. Then came orlon, which unfortunately crawled when sewed and reacted to static electricity.

Mrs. Goynes related the amusing case of a woman in her studio who, when walking through the room, caused all the orlon drapes to follow her as she passed. So orlon still left research for chemists.

Fortisan was the answer. It doesn't ride, doesn't react to weather changes and is very beautiful. When combined with silk, in a crossing weave, it stops splitting of silk.

Fiber-glass is good, she said. Glass fabric is used for public buildings because it is fireproof, it will not fade and comes in many colors and weaves.

One fabric she finds popular is a homespun type of material made of mohair, rayon and cotton.

Other ideas from Mrs. Goynes: Corduroy has been popular for love-seats and divans... people think too frequently that a fabric is for just one room... in regard to popular chintz, she laughed, "Men say it still looks like oil cloth."

Girls buy many drapery fabrics to make their clothes, especially at remnant sales. "My girls were dressed in drapery material," she laughed. "One of them told me she lived in mortal dread of walking into a home and finding she was dressed in the same fabric in which the home was decorated."

January, and the people are rehashing budgets, the result smelling greatly of tuna casserole.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Water-short Texas towns are waking up to the opportunity of adding to their water supplies through the Department of Agriculture watershed protection and flood prevention programs in the Trinity and Colorado River watersheds and in local projects assisted under Public Law 566.

State Conservationist H. N. Smith of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service reports growing interest on the part of municipalities eager to pay added costs to provide needed water storage behind flood water retarding dams.

Smith explained that the dams are designed as detention structures primarily. Their purpose is to slow down flood waters and release them automatically at a rate stream channels can hold. Each dam must first be justified on the basis of its usefulness in flood prevention. Water storage for any purpose other than flood prevention must be secondary and in keeping with state law.

Applications for SCS help under the comparatively new watershed protection and Flood Prevention Act (Public Law 566) now total 113, Smith reported. Modification of the Act has made it easier for municipalities and special purpose districts to make use of the program in meeting local water needs.

In the new watershed protection program, municipalities or other authorized organizations can build water storage into a flood water retarding structure by paying the difference in cost, Smith explained. The city of Kaufman, in the Kaufman-Van Zandt Soil Conservation District, was the first Texas city to take advantage of the water-storing opportunity.

Added capacity of 1834 acre feet was built into a flood water retarding structure on Big Cottonwood Creek, a small watershed in the big Upper Trinity flood prevention program.

The 1834 acre feet of storage — nearly 600 million gallons — was provided at a cost to Kaufman of $18,114.

Smith said construction has started on a similar project near Coolidge, Texas, to provide 355 acre feet for that city in the Pin Oak Creek watershed program.

In the new watershed protection program the government can lend up to $5 million for periods of as long as 50 years at a rate of about 2½ percent. The loan is retired on an annual basis. There is no such loan provision in the older Upper Trinity and Middle Colorado flood prevention program.

SCS is authorized by the new law to cooperate with local subdivisions of government in building structures up to 5000 acre feet of flood water detention capacity. Additional storage up to 25,000 acre feet in total capacity can be provided for municipal water supplies.

A city or water district must use its own engineer or employ one to determine water needs and suitability of the watershed and the proposed structure for a municipal supply. The local engineer may re-design the dam to include the additional storage, or the city or water district may use SCS engineering help and reimburse the agency.

Smith explained that the objective of the locally sponsored watershed program is to give protection to land, crops and property against flood damage. Soil conservation treatment of land in the watershed is fundamental. It insures a long period of usefulness for the flood water retarding structures by reducing sediment carried by runoff into streams and reservoirs. It also benefits the farmer and rancher through more efficient use of land and available moisture.

Mrs. Don Olson Gives HD Program

Comfortable sleeping was discussed and films shown by Mrs. Don Olson at the Las Amigas Home Demonstration Club meeting Jan. 10 in the home of Mrs. Bill Patke.

Refreshments were served to the members. The next meeting will be Jan. 24 with Mrs. Bob Costley.

Armstrong Speaks On Modern Trends

Gladys Armstrong was guest speaker for the Woman's Book Club on Wednesday, Jan. 9. The topic of her discussion was Modern Trends in Furniture, China, Crystal and Silver.

In the business session, presided over by Mrs. K. E. Frieze, vice president, Darthula Walker was elected to fill the unexpired term of the president, Mrs. L. A. Donnell, who is presently confined to her home because of illness.

Officers elected to serve the club during the two-year period were Mrs. Lee Johnson, president; Mrs. Walter Graham, vice president; Mrs. Charles Harter, secretary; Mrs. T. S. Maxwell, treasurer; Mrs. James P. Cornette, parliamentarian, Edna Graham, federation counselor, and Mrs. A. A. Clark, county library representative.

Present at the meeting Wednesday were Mrs. Alfred Bellah, Mrs. H. A. Brown, Mrs. C. R. Burrow, Mrs. Ray Campbell, Mrs. H. C. Campfield, Mrs. A. A. Clark, Mrs. S. H. Condon, Mrs. K. E. Frieze, Mrs. Joe Gibson, Edna Graham, Mrs. Walter Graham, Mrs. Charles Harter, Mrs. S. B. Louder, Mrs. T. S. Maxwell, Mrs. T. B. McCarter, Mrs. George D. Moore, Mrs. Frank Morgan, Mrs. R. A. Neblett, Mrs. T. V. Reeves, Mrs. Fred Standley and Darthula Walker.

New Officers Assume HD Duties

New officers of the Randall County Home Demonstration Club presided at the first January meeting in the home of Mrs. Durward Brown. President, Mrs. Bill Wilson, was in charge of the meeting.

Vice president this year is Mrs. Glenn Haynes; secretary-treasurer is Mrs. Marion Higdon.

All members present participated in the program on types and care of pillows for restful sleeping.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. E. L. Hardaway, Mrs. Glenn Haynes, Mrs. Marion Higdon, Mrs. J. D. Louder, Mrs. Luke Miller, Mrs. Bill Money, Mrs. Crawford Ruthart, Mrs. D. R. Weaver, Mrs. Bill Wilson, Mrs. Marion Williams and the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Burrus of Tucson, Ariz., were here Saturday to attend the funeral of his aunt, Mrs. Bradley Burrus.

Cloverleaf 4-H Club Sees Demonstrations

The Wayside Cloverleaf 4-H Club met Tuesday, Jan. 8, at the Wayside school.

Frances Heisler, president, presided at the business meeting. Nancy Schrib led the ritual.

Miss Fain, Home Demonstration Agent, gave two demonstrations. The first was on the care and use of an electric mixer. The second was a demonstration on pie crust. Leaflets were passed out on dairy foods with Mrs. A. J. Newsom, leader, present.

Others present were Patsy Schrib, Polly Cummins, Loraine Newsom, Marilyn Wetzel and Martina Longoria.

The next meeting will be on Jan. 22 at the school. Each girl is to give either an electric appliance or a dairy foods demonstration.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wester and Doris and Mrs. Erna Small and Johnny of Carlsbad, N. M. returned to their homes Monday after attending the funeral of their sister, Mrs. Bradley Burrus.

Mrs. Ralph Green spent last weekend in Sunray and visited her mother, Mrs. L. M. Fedric, in the Dumas hospital where she had surgery last week.

Mrs. T. W. Collins, Mrs. Terrill Christian of Claude and Mrs. Ed Bagot of Amarillo visited in Lubbock Tuesday with Mrs. Collins' brother, who is ill.

NIECE DIES

Mrs. L. A. Bowers of Mesa, Ariz., niece of H. D. Curtis, died Jan. 3. Lylaine Davis, daughter of Mrs. Bowers, spent several months with Mr. and Mrs. Curtis and attended school here this year.

FIFTH GRADE OFFICERS

Class officers for the second term of school in Mrs. Mitchell Jones' room are Gary Fletcher, president; Donald Breitling, vice president; Carol Brown, secretary; Ronnie Sweet, treasurer; Bill Jar-nagin, program chairman; and Norman Smyrl, reporter.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the Sunday School workers, neighbors and friends for bringing food and helping us during the great loss of our darling daughter-in-law and sister-in-law, Louise. May God bless each and everyone. Mrs. Maggie Burrus and all her children and their families. 411f

We wish to extend a sincere "thank you" to all our friends and neighbors for their cards, memorials and other expressions of sympathy at the time of our recent bereavement. We are truly grateful to the doctors and nurses. May God bless you. The Bradley Burrus family and the Mrs. Henry Meyers family. 411f

May we extend our heartfelt thanks to those of you who expressed your sympathy in so many thoughtful ways during our recent bereavement. Your kindnesses have meant much to us. Mrs. William Schmitz and family.

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS
OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

The 85th Congress Convenes
Shortly after high noon on the 3rd day of January the Honorable Sam Rayburn, who had been duly elected Speaker, rapped his gavel and called to order the first session of the House of Representatives of the 85th Congress of the United States of America. Across the Capitol the same procedure obtained in the Senate where the Vice President was presiding. The oath of office was administered to all those present and the organizational activities commenced immediately.

There was ample indication from the beginning that this session of the Congress would not go wanting for explosive issues. In fact, Dulles had been conferring with Members of the Congress for several days prior to Jan. 3 in an effort to obtain some degree of unanimity in pushing over the resolution to grant unlimited powers to the President for use of American boys in foreign areas. At the same time it was announced that the President would appeal to a joint session of the Congress on Jan. 5 in an effort to push over the resolution.

These activities clearly indicate that most of the big issues will stem from the international problems and our foreign policy. The Hungarian refugee program will prove much more explosive than anticipated by many. People are beginning to ask numerous questions concerning this particular situation. For instance, the Washington mail brings in such questions as these: What is the national extraction or the predominant blood line of the refugees?

What is their average age? What kind of work can they do? What kind of work are they willing to do? Why isn't Russia making more of an effort to keep them from escaping? Is it possible that some of them have been Moscow trained? Will the relaxing of our immigration laws, in order to take care of these refugees on a temporary basis, result in efforts to completely change our immigration laws? Are many of these people more interested in obtaining U. S. citizenship than in what happens in Hungary?

There is no reason why these questions and many others should not be answered fully and to the satisfaction of the people of this country. At the present there are doubts in many minds. One woman called an agency which had been advertised as having something to do with this program.

She explained to the agency that she could provide facilities and employment for one or two who would be interested in doing domestic work. She was advised by the agency that the refugees were not interested in doing domestic work—that most of them were skilled workers and professional people; that, in fact, a bulletin had just been issued by the main office of the agency to the effect that the refugees were definitely not interested in doing domestic work.

This situation created two questions in my mind. In the first place, if they were interested in escaping, it would seem to me that they would not be so choosy about their employment. In the second place, it occurred to me that a troublesome situation could develop from the importation of skilled workers to replace our own citizens in many instances.

There has been a growing fear on the part of many of our people who are getting up in years that their services are no longer needed or wanted in the skilled-worker field and in several of the commercial fields. Many of these people have written me concerning their dilemma. It would be tragic if people from foreign countries were imported into our own country and placed into jobs that should be occupied by our own citizens regardless of the particular work to be done.

Many other incidents such as the above have given rise to the doubts and created the questions. Therefore, I think that an early answer to all of the questions would be in order.

U. S. Troops on Foreign Soil

Probably the most important issue that will face this Congress and this country for a long time to come is the request of President Eisenhower that he be granted unlimited powers to use American boys in foreign lands to help stem communism. Everyone would join in most any effort to help stem communism, but it must be remembered that the use of American boys in foreign fields is a very, very serious matter.

Under such powers the President could dispatch the troops to such places as he saw fit and say that it was being done for the purpose of stemming communism. No one would doubt his sincerity in his conclusion, but there are many, many people in this country who could very well conclude that the use of American troops in that particular area was not stemming communism. In other words, there is no need to beg the question.

If it is the opinion and will of the American people that one man, to wit, the President of the United States, should have the authority to dispatch American boys in uniform to any part of this world, that power should be unlimited. Communism knows no particular area. It can be employed in several widely separated places simultaneously or can be handled in such manner as Moscow might decide.

The real question is whether or not one man should have such powers or whether the matter should be left to the elected representatives of the people to act at such time as need for action arises.

In my opinion, the elected representatives of the people of this country will act with all necessary dispatch when and if the time comes that shedding of American blood on foreign soil is necessary for the preservation of our nation. God forbid that it ever does.

No species of birds now living have teeth.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

Recently, I saw a moving picture entitled "The Kettles in the Ozarks." ("Kettle" in this case, in case you don't know, is the name of a family and not of the cooking utensil which is always calling the pot black, or vice versa, whichever it was). The movie was exaggerated; they all are.

But the "hero" reminded me of a man I once knew in the hills of Northeast Arkansas (the Ozarks are in the northwestern part of the state—which, by the way, is my native state). The individual in the movie was lazy—in fact, shiftless. And so was the real-life individual, whom I'll call McCall, which is near enough to the right name.

My grandparents had a small rent house on their farm and grandpa rented it to McCall. The tenant got behind in the rent—if it is correct to say that, when he never paid any rent at all. Grandpa decided to try to get some form of service from McCall, more as a face-saving gesture than anything else.

There was a rocking chair with one rocker snapped off in the middle. We all knew about this but would forget and there the rocker would be with its cushion and a silk cover over the back, a baited and inviting trap. So one would seat himself and start to rock and the chair would go over backward. So would the occupant.

Grandpa asked the tenant to repair this chair. McCall had a sad face and a weeping willow mustache. His thoughts were slow and his words were wide apart. His deliberate—it was more than that but I don't know any other word—style of speaking gave his utterances great impressiveness. Well, he eyed the rocker like a horse-trader examining an animal, cleared his throat and said, "The—man—who—made—this—rocker," then he paused—for station identification, perhaps. After half a minute, he repeated the words, halted again, and then for the third time, he asserted, "The—man—who—made—this—rocker"—another period of silence, then "—didn't—know —whut—he—wuz—a'doin'." My cousin Christine fled into the next room, whence came the sound of laughter even though she had stuffed half a pillow down her throat.

McCall knew "whut he wuz a-doin'" — which was nothing. So grandpa fixed the rocker.

Try It Now

Now is the time for personality improvement.

All students this side of insanity desire the goodwill and respect of his fellow schoolmates and teachers. Some, however, don't have the personality to win these things, and they know it.

Now in this new year of 1957 is the time to begin work to correct that. By a little determination and a lot of work, one may improve one's personality, "to win friends and influence people."

One of the most simple ways to win the admiration of others is always being cheerful and having enthusiasm for the good things of life. A pleasant "good morning," a smile and a pat on the back will do wonders with students—and adults. Does anyone know of a person becoming angry after someone has paid them a compliment?

A person who pays sincere compliments brightens the days of others. Many people who feel that they are not outstanding in anything come to feeling more confident when they feel that someone is interested in them enough to take an interest and pay compliments on their work.

It doesn't hurt to be nice to faculty members, either. The student who cooperates readily with the faculty is not apple polishing. He or she is practicing the principles that will bring to them the respect and goodwill which they deserve.

ALL IN THE STATE OF MIND

If you think you're beaten, you are. If you think you dare not, you don't.

If you'd like to win, but think you can't,

It's almost a cinch you won't.

If you think you'll lose, you're lost.

For out in the world you'll find

Success begins with a fellow's will.

It's all in the state of mind.

Full many a race is lost

Ere ever a step is run;

And many a coward fails

Ere ever his work's begun.

Think big, and your deeds will grow;

Think small, and you'll fall behind;

Think that you can, and you will.

It's all in the state of mind.

If you think you're outclassed, you are;

You've got to think high to rise.

You've got to be sure of yourself before

You ever win a prize.

Life's battles don't always go

To the stronger or faster man,

But soon or late the man who wins

Is the man who thinks he can.

Girls Open Year With Victories

Canyon High's girls basketball team opened the new year right by winning third place in the Panhandle tournament and defeating St. Mary's Academy. The Eaglettes defeated St. Mary's 34-25 Jan. 8. Janie Brotherton scored 12 points and Mary Sue Bolton dunked 7 for the winners.

In the Panhandle tournament, Stinnett upended the girls, 46-27, but the Eaglettes bounced back to take Wheeler, 30-15, and Panhandle, 71-66.

At the Tulia tournament, Canyon girls were defeated twice. Happy outscored the girls, 71-39, and Nazareth won, 43-24. Previously Happy had defeated the Eaglettes 55-36.

Maryland has the only state flag bearing a coat of arms.

You may call a girl a kitten, but never a cat;
You may call her a chicken, but don't say hen.
You can call her your mouse, but not your rat.
You can call her a duck, but not a goose.
Or say she's a vision—not a sight!

Band Renamed 'Minute Men'

"Minute Men" is the new name for the CHS band. On January 2, having only 37 minutes to prepare themselves to welcome home the West Texas State Buffaloes after their victory in the Tangerine Bowl, the band arrived just in the nick of time at the Amarillo air terminal.

Mr. Herman Demus, band director, announced that if the band would like to they could have the pleasure of getting to greet the Buffaloes. The band students were saying yes almost as Mr. Demus had stated his proposition. He then informed the band students that they had a total of 37 minutes to get uniforms and be ready to leave on the bus.

Then was when the hurrying and scurrying of feet began. The telephone was in constant use as the students phoned parents to bring the band suits or to come after them. All went well and the bus pulled out for Amarillo at 1:55 p. m. The students beat the 37 minute deadline. They were ready in 32 minutes.

When the Buffaloes stepped off the plane at 2:55 p. m., the CHS band was there playing fight song "On, On Buffaloes." The victorious team and the band were then honored in the airport restaurant, where they were served Cokes.

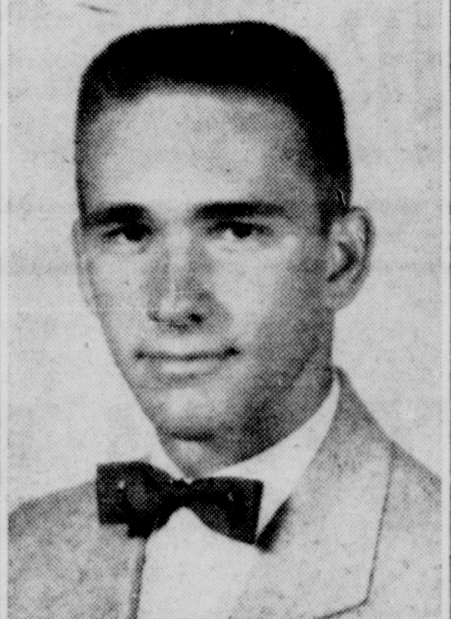

On the return trip to Canyon, one of the Eagle band students was overheard saying, "Why, people should just call us minute-men."

Ailments Keep Students Away

Headache, stomach aches, or just a common old pain from all the hurrying and scurrying of the holiday season accounted for the absence of 21 students from CHS January 2, 1957.

Made your New Year's resolutions yet? If not, better include this one in your memo book. "I resolve to try to raise my attendance at school." You can also expect to see an improvement in grades.

So let's start the new year off on the right foot. Let's not miss a single day of school.

BRIAN TOLLIVER

Tolliver Qualifies As SQT Finalist

Brian Tolliver, senior, qualified to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test, which was given to 7,492 finalists in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico on January 12.

To qualify for the Scholastic Aptitude Test all applicants were given a Scholarship Qualifying Test on October 24. Brian rated in the upper 2 1/2% of all the students taking the Qualifying Test in the verbal section and in the upper 7% in the quantitative portion. All high school seniors of the United States, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico were eligible to take the qualifying exam.

From Canyon High 10 students, Leo Rigby, Brian Tolliver, Annette Dugan, LaVerne Riley, Theresa Mickey, Marcus Robinson, Royce Gum, Wilford Taylor, Francis Boyd and George Kuehler, took the test and one became a finalist. Of the ten students who took the qualifying test, eight ranked in the upper 50% in the verbal section of the test, while four out of the 10 ranked in the 50% in the quantitative portion.

These qualifying and aptitude tests are given through the Merit Scholarship program which is in its second year. In 1955 the program was established through grants from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation of New York. Its purpose is to search for the nation's students most able to benefit from a college education, regardless of means. Once Tommie Davis, president of the student body of CHS, selects a book from the library to read during his study hall period.

Davis, by Courage, Bridges Changes Which Were Brought by Past Year

A year can bring a lot of changes in a fellow's life. Take Tommie Davis, for instance. A year ago, Tommie was just another student at CHS. True, he was friendly, an average student, a participant in sports, and healthy young man. But that description would have fitted almost any boy in school.

Choir Receives Award Letters

Members of the Choral Club received letters Jan. 2. The letters are annual awards for participation in choral activities. On the letters are bars for each year a student has been in choir.

Fanita Marshall received four bars on her letter. Those with three bars were Doris Cooper, Rita Joyce Grabbe, Joy Gray, Beverly Henson, Louise Higdon, Mary Gladys Marshall and Marcus Robinson.

Receiving two bars were Betty Ray Campsey, Beverly Colwell, Jim Fanning, Edwina Hugg, Suzanne Lemons, Cathy Morris and Sybil Welch. Those receiving one bar were Betsy Callarman, Charles Conatser, Carolyn Davis, Patsy Evers, Nedra Fanning, Melba Haile, Marcella Moore, Richard Purcell, Lynda Townsend, John Wear and Mary Whealy.

Members ordering sweaters were Edwina Hugg, Melba Haile, Betsy Callarman, Carolyn Davis, Marcella Moore and Nedra Fanning.

found, the students are supported in college by funds donated by business and industrial corporations, professional societies and interested individuals.

Winners of the Merit Scholarships of 1957 will be announced about April 25. Over 700 Merit Scholarships are planned to be offered in 1957, while in 1956, 556 were given. Merit Scholars choose the college they wish to attend. Scholarships vary with the need of the student, ranging upward from $100 per year (minimum honorarium) to $2,200 per year or more.

For each Merit Scholarship available, there will probably be nine or 10 highly qualified students; therefore in the final phase of competition, the character and accomplishments of the students will be evaluated. The runners-up will each receive a Certificate of Merit.

Adams, Neblett Elected To State

Harlie Adams and Charles Neblett have been named to the Texas All-State Class AA grid team for 1956-57.

Harlie, a senior, was named to a halfback slot on the first team. During the regular season Harlie scored 126 points. In the post season he scored several touchdowns to help defeat Spur and was the only player to score against Stamford.

Charles, also a senior, received honorable mention. His able quarterbacking aided the Eagles' scoring attack.

The All-State team was selected by the Texas Sports Writers Association.

Twelve Eagles were recently named to the Class AA All-Regional football team. Making the first team were Leonard Miller, end; Richard Burgess, tackle; Elston Burkham, guard; Charles Neblett, quarterback; and Harlie Adams, halfback.

Eagles named to the second team were Larry Brandon, end; Dory Funk Jr., guard; and Don Brittain, halfback.

Honorable mention went to Eddie Boydston, George Snapp, A. L. Pruett and C. B. Stone.

Gascas Entertain CHS With Feats

Leo and Josephine Gasca performed in an exciting exhibition of grace, balance and skill in varied acrobatic and balancing feats. The Gascas appeared January 7 in a Southern School assembly.

The Latin-American novelties performed such feats as juggling balls and wooden pins, dancing on a tight wire, and doing a head stand while on a roly-poly.

Leo kept his audience roaring with laughter between acts. On several occasions, Leo went down into the aisles and threw his hat over the audience. Like a boomerang it always would return to him.

Members of the audience were given a chance to try their luck on the roly-poly. Elston Burkham, Richard Burgess, Carolyn Ganton and Traverne Gillham were selected from the audience and brought to the stage to prove that anyone could do some of the tricks.

PATRICIA HARDAWAY

Hardaway Named To FHA Award

Patricia Hardaway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hardaway, was elected FHA Girl of the Month during November.

Patricia is active in school activities, vice president of FHA, a member of National Honor Society, in the Science Club, assistant drum major of the band, junior class secretary, and a member of the First Baptist Church.

Qualifications for the Girl of the Month were made by a committee headed by Marcus Robinson and specify that the girl must be active in FHA, have a 'B' average and a good citizenship grade and must be present at the club meeting when she is nominated.

The FHA members voted on junior and senior girls for October and November. They will vote on freshman girls for December and January and sophomores for February and March.

Shi Sung Girls High School, Cheju-eup, North Cheju, Cheju Do, Seoul, Korea, is going to receive the money for two sewing machines. The money was donated by the FHA of CHS toward assisting schools in Korea under the UNESCO (United Nations Education and Scientific Cooperative Organization) Gift Coupon program.

One national FHA project is to send a $100 check to UNESCO, which will send it where it is most needed. This project was carried out on the local level this year.

Improved Eagles Open District Play

Eagle basketballers, hustling along, are showing signs of improvement as the season nears its district clashes. Facing their most important game of the season the Canyon Eagles A team will be going all out to win over Tulia in their first district game on Friday, Jan. 18.

'Hoppers Eaten In Science Class

CHS biology and chemistry students all agree on one thing when it comes to eating grasshoppers. "It's all a matter of taste." On January 2 and 3 these classes had the pleasure of eating this modern delicacy.

The arthropod known to man as the grasshopper is sold today in the United States as a food delicacy. They are small black creatures fried in oil and sold in small round cans. When eating these little animals you will not be compelled to use bothersome tools for cutting them up. The legs, head, thorax and abdomen come apart very easily. After the grasshoppers have been fried in oil they are then salted, and they taste something like, well... well, like a grasshopper.

Some of the rather brave or should we say venturesome ones who had eaten or tried to eat them came out with this advice to follow, if ever offered a grasshopper, there are three very simple rules to go by. First, don't smell them or you'll never get them down; second, make sure you don't look at them.

They say, by looking at them you start to thinking about them and that the sooner you eat them the better luck you'll have in keeping them... down. Last but far from least, take one if you dare to do so, put it in your mouth, close your eyes and make sure you are near some drinking water. Then if you like them go back for seconds.

Stylish Students Show Fashions

Styles come and go, but in CHS the crew-cut for boys and the pony tail for girls seems to be here to stay! The duck-tail and the poodle-cut were the fads in hair arrangement several years back, but they soon gave way to the less elaborate styles.

Athletes find the crew-cut very convenient for the rough and tumble life of a sportsman, while girls find the pony tail a neat way to control shoulder-length hair.

The ivy-league look seems to be the prevalent trend of fashion for boys' shirts and trousers around high school now. This season the girls have been attracted to car-coats, sissy-blouses and peacoats.

Who knows what high school students will be wearing by 1967? Trends in fashion change so rapidly.

200 Celebrate At Initial Party

Scintillating fireworks lit up the sky and ushered in the New Year for nearly 200 CHS students at the New Year's Eve Party at the National Guard Armory.

This New Year's party was the inaugural social of the Canyon Community Recreation Center sponsored by parents of the students. Parent-sponsors for the first party were the Jack Swatzels, the John Sims, the Hatcher Browns, the Marion Higdons, the R. A. Nebletts, the Edward Lindseys, the Dudley Moores and the Iverson Leakes.

Gay, multi-colored decorations of crepe paper streamers and accordion balls hung from the ceiling, set the mood for the festivities of dancing, playing games and eating.

Dance music was furnished by "The Sainly Six" and "The Rhythm Kings." The equipment for the games was provided by various churches.

Boy Scout Week Plans Announced

Boy Scout Week, the first week in February, Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts will place displays in the windows in Canyon and Happy. These window displays will be judged Feb. 9 by three men from Canyon and three men from Happy. A prize of $5 will be given for the best window in the Cub Scout and in the Boy Scout division.

A district Court of Honor will also be held during Boy Scout Week according to an announcement made by Don Standley at the Randall County District Committee meeting Monday in the college cafeteria Blue Room.

It was announced that Cub Pack 97 will renew their charter Jan. 31 in a meeting at the First Baptist Church at 7 p. m.

Officers and members at large of the district committee are headed by Borden Price, chairman. Truett Hull is the 1957 first vice chairman; Bob Wear is organization extension chairman; Paul Summers is advancement chairman; and Ray Railard is district commissioner.

Members at large include Milton Morris, Dr. C. R. Nester, Dr. Lee Johnson, C. R. Burrow, Tulon G. White, Happy, and Dr. James P. Cornette.

Mrs. Moore Hostess Wesley Bible Class

On Wednesday, Jan. 9, Mrs. J. L. Moore was hostess to the Wesley Bible Class of the First Methodist Church with a covered dish luncheon. The devotional service was conducted by Rev. Doyle Ragle.

Seated were Mrs. Mittie Workman, Mrs. Rosie Hungate, Mrs. Harry Hungate, Mrs. E. C. Penick, Mrs. Barton, Mrs. Haynes, Mary Moss Richardson, Rev. and Mrs. Ragle and John, and Miss Elizabeth Cox who has been teaching the class since the serious illness of the regular teacher, Mrs. Lillie Foster.

Dr. Walter H. Juniper, dean of West Texas State College, will attend a conference on library services and resources, sponsored by the Texas Commission on Higher Education, in Dallas Friday and Saturday.

Dr. Juniper is a member of one of two committees coordinated by Dr. J. G. Flowers, president of Southwest Texas State Teachers College. The groups will consider status and needs of state colleges and university libraries.

College Schedules 24-Day Field Trip

A 24-day tour of the six southeastern states and Havana, Cuba, has been scheduled for a special geography field trip during the second term of the 1957 summer session at West Texas State College.

The tour is the fourth to be conducted at WTSC by Dr. Murry B. Measamer, head of the geography department, and is the first planned to the deep South. The field course carries college credit, and tourists may earn six semester hours credit.

Itinerary for the chartered bus will be through Houston, New Orleans, Mobile, Ala., Tallahassee, Ft. Myers, Fla., Key West and Havana, Miami Beach, Daytona Beach, St. Augustine, Charleston, S. C., Atlanta, and Columbus, Miss.

Reservations for the tour are requested by Dr. Measamer by Feb. 2, with payment to the WT business office. Dr. Measamer expects more than 40 persons to enroll for the course, and urges a first come basis.

Book Review Given At Club Luncheon

Miss Elva Fronabarger reviewed the book, Mother, on Jan. 10 at a luncheon for the Canyon Mother-in-Law Club and the Palo Duro Mother-in-Law Club in the college cafeteria Blue Room.

Hostesses were Mrs. Mae Johnson and Mrs. George Barker. Mrs. W. T. Goodson, national president from Amarillo, was a guest.

The next meeting of the Palo Duro Mother-in-Law Club will be held Feb. 14 with Mrs. Leonard Winters and Mrs. James Jennings as hostess.

At the luncheon were Mrs. W. I. Wester, Mrs. Mary Burtz, Mrs. W. M. Dickerson, Mrs. R. T. Bowman, Mrs. Eby, Mrs. Hudson, Mrs. C. H. Stratton, Mrs. Fred Marshall, Mrs. P. L. Pitt, Mrs. Leonard Winters, Mrs. Rae Walters, Mrs. Mae Johnson, Mrs. George Barker, Mrs. Jeannette Robbins, Mrs. Hilgenfeld, Mrs. Earl Burtz, Mrs. Ralph Ruthart and Mrs. I. F. SoRelle.

Heart Meeting Set Tonight in Amarillo

Three Baylor University School of Medicine professors will conduct a public meeting on cardiology following a cardiology seminar for area doctors today. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p. m. in the auditorium of Amarillo College and will be sponsored by the North Plains District Heart Association. Dr. Dan G. McNamara, chief of the cardiac section of the Texas Children's Hospital, Dr. Don W. Chapman, clinical professor of medicine, and Dr. David H. Cooley, associate professor of surgery, will conduct the seminar and the public meeting. They will also answer questions following the public meeting.

Any person interested in the heart work of the heart association is invited to attend.

Two Caballero Ink Drawings Exhibited

Two ink drawings by Dr. Emilio Caballero, head of the West Texas State College art department, are among 73 prints and drawings being shown this month in Dallas. They are on display at the Seventh Southwestern Exhibition of prints and drawings at the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts.

Works being exhibited are from artists in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, New Mexico, Colorado and Arizona. Dr. Caballero's two drawings are titled "Aragon" and "Taos."

After the show closes in Dallas, 64 prints will be sent on a circuit show through seven Southwestern states. Dr. Caballero's "Aragon" was accepted for showing in the group. Only one entry by each artist is accepted for the circulating show.

The S.S. Savannah was the first steamship to cross the Atlantic.

Irrigation Book Issued by Service

COLLEGE STATION—"Thinking of Irrigation" is the title of a publication just released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and it is available without cost from the offices of local county agents or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Extension Irrigation Specialist R. V. Thrumond, the author, has listed in concise form the most important considerations for those contemplating an irrigation program for their farm. Illustrations are used to emphasize and clarify the facts listed.

Such items as water supply, soils, crops, methods of applying water, equipment and planning and designing the system are covered in the publication. The final test comes, says Thrumond, when these cost factors are all added together—water cost, extra equipment, taxes, maintenance, fertilizer, depreciation, interest on investment and labor—and compared with the expected income derived from irrigation.

To be profitable, the engineer emphasizes that income must be increased enough through the use of irrigation to offset the additional costs. Installing an irrigation system should not be looked upon as a short time proposition, but as a change in farm management and operation which will affect farm production and income for a long period of time, says Thrumond.

Couple Married Friday Night

Roxanna McJimsey and Bud Schofield returned Sunday from their wedding trip to Oklahoma City, Okla., and are residing in Canyon. The couple was married Friday night in the Methodist parsonage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin McJimsey of Silverton, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Schofield of Flomot.

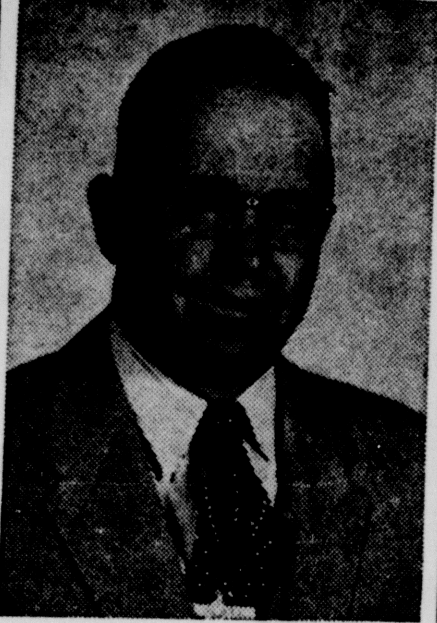

The Rev. Doyle Ragle officiated at the service. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Henderson.

Mr. Schofield is a student at West Texas State and is employed at the Canyon Drug. She is employed in the office of R. B. Allen.

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

Most of us have our income tax withheld from our salaries by our employers during the year and like it that way. Some of us, however, pay income tax through quarterly payments. Folks who pay their income tax through quarterly payments often make a very common error. In filing their tax return, they claim to have paid four quarterly payments on their tax when actually they have paid only three payments and are filing their tax returns and paying the tax instead of making the fourth payment. If you paid estimated tax during the year, be sure to claim only the tax you have paid.

Show Officer Gives Thanks

The president of the Randall County Junior Livestock Association, J. O. Parker, has issued the following message of thanks to the people of the county for their support.

"We now approach our 10th annual Randall County Junior Livestock show and sale in perhaps the driest and most critical year for farmers in the history of Randall County. The members and officers of this Association realize that this is a time when encouragement and guidance to our rural youth must not falter for these boys and girls who are taking part in this 10th annual show will be the leaders and backbone of our agriculture of tomorrow. Their character and the attitude with which they face the future may well contribute a very definite influence on the destiny of agriculture in this community and in our United States.

"The loyalty and support of the people of Randall County to our organization is something of which we may all be justly proud, for each year the merchants and townspeople, as well as the farm people, of Randall County and its neighboring counties have given time and support to this work far beyond the hopes of the little group who started the Randall County Junior Livestock Show 10 years ago.

"The officers and members of this association wish to express our appreciation for this attitude and humbly solicit the continuance of your fine support."

ATTENDS FUNERAL

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hammons returned last week from Tacoma, Wash., where they were called to the bedside of their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Troy B. Hammons. Mrs. Hammons died Dec. 26. She had been in ill health for some time. Maj. Hammons is in the Air Force at Ft. Lewis.

List Reasons for Disqualifying Expenses Of Travel, Transportation on Returns

This is the second in a series of 12 articles prepared by the Internal Revenue Service to assist taxpayers in avoiding errors that cause tax audits. Here are the 12 most common reasons for the Internal Revenue Service having to disallow or adjust Travel and Transportation Expenses:

(1) The cost of transportation between the taxpayer's residence and his place of employment is not deductible for tax purposes. This is true even though he may have to carry working tools to and from the job.

(2) Where a person has two posts of duty, his principal post of duty is his home for tax purposes; and only the expense of transportation between the principal and minor posts of duty is deductible. The expense of traveling between his residence and his principal post of duty is not an allowable deduction.

(3) Where an automobile is used for both personal and business use, an allocation between the two uses must be made in arriving at the amount deductible for tax purposes.

(4) Where the taxpayer's employer makes transportation available but the taxpayer chooses to furnish his own, the expense incurred by him for transportation is not deductible.

(5) Where a taxpayer's employer will reimburse him for traveling expenses, but the taxpayer does not claim all the reimbursement that he is entitled to, no deduction is allowable for the amount of such expenses for which reimbursement was not claimed.

(6) The cost of meals is deductible only if incurred in travel away from home overnight in connection with the taxpayer's work. If he did not travel away from home overnight in his work, no deduction is allowable for meals expense.

(7) Where a taxpayer's work involves travel over a regular route, such as in the case of railroad employees or truck drivers, and the taxpayer spends only a short time at the turn-around point but is not released in order to secure necessary sleep or rest, he is not entitled to a deduction for the cost of meals to or from or at the turn-around point.

(8) In the case of an itinerant worker who customarily moves from one job to the next, and doesn't maintain a fixed place of abode and is not regularly associated with any particular locality, his tax home is considered to be whatever he happens to be working. No travel expense is allowable.

(9) Where a person is employed at a location away from his home for an indefinite or indeterminate period, such location becomes his home for tax purposes. Employment of expected or actual duration of a year or more at a particular location is generally considered indefinite employment there, and travel expense in connection therewith are not deductible.

(10) In the case of any employee, only an outside salesman may deduct business expenses other than transportation expenses, (such as for telephone, entertaining, etc.) on page one for computing adjusted gross income. An outside salesman is defined as a salesman who solicits for his employer away from the employer's place of business, and who devotes his full time to such efforts.

(11) Travel expenses do not include cleaning and laundry, which are non-deductible, personal expenses.

(12) Under Section 162 of the Internal Revenue Code, a deduction claimed for traveling expenses must be substantiated by evidence showing in detail the amount and nature of the expenses. If the taxpayer does not substantiate the amount of expenses claimed, nor the number of days he traveled in connection with his work so that the Treasury Department can make a reasonable determination of the amount, if any, that is allowable, the entire amount claimed is disallowed.

Thousands of Dallas District taxpayers made these errors. The law requires the Internal Revenue Service in cases like these to reduce the amount of the refund the taxpayer has claimed in the case of a "Pre-Refund Audit" or to assess additional tax in regular audits.

The Internal Revenue Service has a publication entitled "Travel and Transportation Expenses" — IRS Publication 300. If you need additional information after reading your tax instructions, you may secure a copy of this publication from your local Internal Revenue Service office. You may find it advisable to consult a qualified tax practitioner on complicated problems.

In the next article we will present the reasons for disallowing sick-pay exclusions claimed by taxpayers.

CHECK - R - MIXING SERVICE

Probably the easiest thing in the world for a husband — or a wife — to see is his (or her) spouse's faults. He/she may love her/him just the same — or, shall we say, in spite of those weaknesses. But oh my, they're obvious!

The next most apparent thing in all human relations is the way a sister (or brother) handles her (or his) better half. Family reunions bring these sad facts into sharp focus.

At our house recently, we've had a fine chance to observe this latter set of human foibles. And some morning soon, when we wake up feeling unusually strong and honest, we plan to try them on our own married life for size.

Do we, for instance, turn a dazzling smile on every friend, neighbor, acquaintance and door-to-door salesman that comes our way, but greet the spouse with a perfectly dead pan every time he walks in the door?

Do we assert the wife's proper role of leading the way out of church, or a cafe, only to take off at such speed that the spouse, who is an unusually friendly chap, has either to brush swiftly past all acquaintances or else lose sight of us around the corner while he pauses to say how-de-do?

Do we select all his clothes for him, then entertain every gathering with the repeated statement that he'd look like a tramp if we didn't perform this service?

Do we tell stories on him that make him sound stupid, just to get a laugh? Nag at him about his own bad habits, but do nothing to correct our own?

As we said, it'll have to be a bright morning, with no interruptions, and we'll have to be feeling just right . . .

Gregarious animals are those that live in flocks or herds.

"Myriad" literally means 10,000.

A motor reword here has its full rated horsepower — the work is superlatively done by specialists and is wholly guaranteed. Regardless of type, size, make — we can service your electric motors perfectly, economically.

Winn Is Elected Book Club Prexy

Mrs. Bruce Winn was elected Friday to serve as Junior Woman's Book Club president in 1957. Serving with her as vice-president will be Mrs. Bob Lindsey.

Secretary elected is Mrs. James Murphy White; treasurer, Mrs. Lindsey Taylor; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Weldon Hager; parliamentarian, Mrs. Harold Erwin and reporter, Mrs. Dick Louder.

The installation tea for officers will be May 17. In the business session conducted by Mrs. H. R. Fulton, it was reported that the club would begin beautification work immediately on the corner of Conner Park dedicated to the memorial of the dead of World War II.

A committee for study of the club constitution was appointed. They are Mrs. Bruce Winn, chairman, Mrs. D. C. Gamble, Mrs. Don Standley and Mrs. Avenit Lair.

Further business included the summary of the scorecard for written reports to the Texas Federation, the voting of $10 to Hungarian relief, and the club approval for a letter by the corresponding secretary to Sen. Grady Hazlewood and Rep. Ted Springer urging support for Driver Education legislation.

The guest speaker, Mrs. Marie Goynes of Goynes Studio of Interior Decorating in Amarillo, spoke on modern home decorating. In the display of modern decorating fabrics, she stressed the importance of fortisan, a fabric which, according to Mrs. Goynes, doesn't ride, react to weather changes and combined with silk in weaving prevents silk splitting.

She also discussed fiber glass used extensively for public buildings because of its advantages of being fireproof and non-fading.

Sorghum Hybrids Will Be Available For Planting During 1957 Season

COLLEGE STATION—Seven grain sorghum hybrids, developed cooperatively by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, will be available to farmers for planting in 1957.

These hybrids are the result of research work began in 1921 and are the first practical hybrids to be released from these studies.

The seven hybrids, RS 590, Texas 601, RS 610, Texas 611, Texas 620, RS 650 and Texas 660, are the best of several hundred produced and tested during the past 26 years at the Lubbock and Chillicothe stations.

Tests were conducted last year throughout Texas and all have thus been grown under limited field demonstrations. The plant breeders for the Texas Station say still better hybrids with improved adaptation to various growing conditions can be expected in the near future.

Farmers are advised to plant one or more of the hybrids adapted to their areas and to make comparisons with standard varieties. Further, it is suggested, that only certified hybrid seed be planted as insurance that seed planted are correctly labeled.

Planting seed of these seven hybrids are white, but the grain produced will be red. In general, the higher the hybrid number, the later is its maturity, but none is as late as Plainsman.

Yields 20 to 40 percent greater than varieties of the same maturity under most conditions can be expected. The plants show superior seedling vigor, rapid growth and uniform height and maturity. Since the hybrids have larger heads and are often slightly taller than the varieties, occasionally more lodging may occur in the hybrids.

Cultural practices for the sorghum hybrids are the same as recommended for sorghum varieties. Detailed information on each of the seven hybrids is given in L-310, Grain Sorghum Hybrids. It is available from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

MRS. ROY FLOYD HAYHURST

Double-Ring, Candlelight Service
Read in Chapel Saturday Evening

In an impressive double ring ceremony Saturday evening, Jan. 12, Cecelia Odell Bosley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil G. Bosley, and Roy Floyd Hayhurst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Temple S. Hayhurst of Tulia, were united in marriage. The Rev. T. Winston Wilbanks, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiated at the ceremony read in the Joseph A. Hill Chapel on the campus of West Texas State College.

The altar was formed with a double set of seven bract candelabra with white bows flanked with floor baskets of salmon pink gladioli and altar vases with salmon pink gladioli and greenery.

Mrs. Lee Foster, organist, played "Wedding Prelude," Rand, "Andante Cantabile," Tchaikowsky, "Meditation," Guilant, "Reverie," Wilson, "May Angles Bright Be Near You," Bach, and traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional, and during the ceremony "To A Wild Rose" by Mac Dowell was

'Hail to the Chief...'

In a little while it was time to eat lunch. As we stood in the cafeteria-style line in the officers mess, four gentlemen sat down at the only table in the room with a white tablecloth. (The rest had red checkered cloths.)

Hurry, scurry, up ran an Air Force lieutenant who apparently asked the gentlemen to move to another table. When they left, he stood wiping the ash trays with his hand. A waitress came up to help with the straightening.

Standing there we laughed, "If it takes a lieutenant to wipe out the ash trays, it'll take at least a major to pull out the chairs whenever the people that are going to eat played.

Cloe Ann Black of Canyon served as bridesmaid. She wore a ballerina length gown of pastel blue net over satin. Her head-dress was of satin wire net with pearls and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Tolly L. Jones of Plainview served as best man. Serving as ushers were Rudy George of Plainview and Elton Matsler of Tulia.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length gown of white nylon tulle with lace embroidered applique over satin. It had long fitted sleeves with points over her hands. She wore a waist-length veil of nylon tulle held in place by a lace pillbox hat. Her only jewelry was a gold lavalier worn by her mother at her wedding. She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds attached to a pearl-covered Bible, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Bosley, mother of the bride, wore a dress of peacock blue with black and white accessories. Mrs. Hayhurst, the bridegroom's mother, wore a purple velvet dress with black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of pink carnations.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents for members of the immediate families and of the wedding party. The cake was served by Mrs. Kenneth Bosley and the punch was ladled by Mrs. Ray Bosley, sister-in-law of the bride.

The bride traveled in an aqua knit suit with brown reptile accessories. She wore a corsage of white rosebuds.

Mrs. Hayhurst is a graduate of Canyon High School and is employed by The First National Bank of Canyon.

Mr. Hayhurst attended Tulia public schools and is now serving in the United States Navy.

there arrive." You see, we didn't know who would eat there, although we figured it was not for President Eisenhower.

In a few minutes we found out what rank it takes to pull out a chair. In walked New Mexico Gov. Ed Mechem, and Brig. Gen. William Wallace Momyer, commander of the Clovis base. With them was a lieutenant colonel, and it was he who pulled out the chairs.

Time passed and it was easy to see that the Air Force people at the base were anxious that no mishaps should occur. It became a joke with us as we waited, to ruminate on which heads would fall if something went wrong. "Captains will become privates" got to be the saying.

Finally one o'clock ticked around, and right on schedule we were transported to the flight line. There we found the ramp just about where it had been drawn in. And there stood the honor guard, drawn up in two stiff rows—each member with freshly pressed uniforms sporting razor creases, each with shiny black boots polished with uncounted hours of spit, blacking and elbow grease, that is, all except one, a sergeant who seemed to be in charge of the honor guard. His uniform was spotless, the bottoms of his boots, around the toe and heel, was shiny and black, but he had forgotten about the tops of his boots. They were brown.

We decided that he must have been the one to inspect the honor guard when they got ready and there was no one around to inspect him. But he stood back from the rest and the President most likely didn't even see him.

Pretty soon an airplane carrying the White House press contingent landed and drew up near where the crowd was standing. Immediately several men who could be tabbed as secret service agents began circulating around the area, and some airmen brought the Presidential Flag and the U. S. flag from the press plane. Apparently the flags are special.

But they proved too large for the stiff breeze blowing and the members of the color guard detailed to carry the flags could not hold them. In fact, while the two corporals struggled to hold them aloft, they had another fight just trying to stand up. The flags were replaced with smaller ones from the base itself.

The White House newsmen and photographers strolled around and took their places outside the roped off area, directly in front of the area newsmen, and the President's plane arrived.

With the door open and the ramp placed, a smallish man wearing a brown suit, brown hat and tan topcoat stepped out and many of us kept craning our necks looking for President Eisenhower.

The band struck up Ruffles and Flourishes, the man whipped off his hat and . . . President Eisenhower was there.

He walked down the ramp, shook hands with Gen. Momyer and Gov. Mechem, walked through the honor guard, stopped to salute the colors and got into Gov. Mechem's long, black Cadillac with New Mexico license plate No. 1.

We broke and ran for our busses and the procession started. Leading was a car with New Mexico license No. 100 bearing a uniformed policeman we took to be the head of the New Mexico Highway Patrol. At least he had a highway patrol captain driving.

Then came the President's car, followed by a convertible load of secret service men and two convertible loads of photographers from the White House group.

Then two Clovis school busses loaded with farmers from that area. Then four big blue Air Force busses.

We were on the second blue bus and felt in fine shape to observe anything that might happen.

But we weren't even off the base before the impossible happened. Some wiring caught fire, shorted the ignition and we coasted to a stop, luckily right by the motor pool where more busses were standing.

We loaded onto two smaller busses and struck out after the main procession. As luck would have it, along came a Santa Fe freight train pulled by a four-section freight Diesel and five smaller black and white Diesel engines. That stopped us again for awhile.

Meanwhile the President and his party had turned onto Highway 60, gone one mile to the east and turned north on a section line road. On the left was a quarter-section of burned out maize that was too poor to harvest. It was farmed by Bud Carpenter and owned by the T. W. King estate.

A quarter-mile further on, a quarter-section farmed by Harold Carpenter was on the left and another farmed by C. V. Bridges was on the right. Both of these were burned out, too.

At the next section line road, the President turned east again and saw Bridges place on the right and a half section farmed by Chester Jackson on the left. Jackson's place was no better than the other.

And next the President came to his big stop of the trip, at the half-section farm owned by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Worrell. Everybody stopped and got out.

In a little while, our two belated busses arrived on the scene, and found the President and Mr. Worrell down in an empty pit silo. They talked a while there, and came out. At the top, they stopped to talk some more and then walked back up toward the house.

The President saw some machinery off to the left and walked over for a look.

As they stood there I thought I might get a chance at a good picture so I eased over behind a tractor and started looking through the camera around the back wheel. Another fellow with a camera was sitting backwards on the tractor seat and he kept shifting around, forcing me to move a little, too.

I leaned a little more and a little more and finally I was pushing pretty hard against a bespectacled man wearing a gray suit and hat. I said "Pardon me," and he said "Just a minute and I'll get out of your way," but by then I had taken the picture and had quit leaning.

About then one of the White House correspondents spoke up and said, "Do you want to go through here, Mr. Secretary?" Looking some closer at the man I'd been shoving, I finally recognized the Secretary of Agriculture, Ezra Benson, and felt like I should apologize a bit more but it was already too late.

The President and Mr. Worrell finished looking at the machinery and started back for the cars.

They stopped again to chat, and then I heard the President say something for the first and only time. He said, "How are the hogs doing?"

Mr. Worrell and President Eisenhower walked over to where the hogs were kept and talked some more. Mrs. Worrell joined them, along with their five children, Wade, 17, Rex, 16, Jimmie, 6, Terry, 8, and Mary, 4. Mary was the special charge of Mr. Benson.

The photographers kept taking pictures, the President and the Worrells talked and the secret service men kept trying to keep a little space open for them.

The President and his party stayed at the Worrell farm for at least 20 minutes and more likely a half-hour. Then we all drove away again.

Turning north again at the section line, we saw quarter sections farmed by Bud Carpenter, Frank Blackburn, Hub Mize, A. J. Jones, Weldon Lewis, Jerry Hand, Jim Bailey, Frank Teague, W. A. Reid, W. H. Walden, W. A. Murphy and O. C. Stansell and A. L. Hand.

By that time we were back at the base and we all drove to the officers club again, where it was expected that Press Secretary Jim Hagerty would hold a press conference while the President talked with farm representatives in another room.

Mr. Hagerty never did show up, but the bar in the club opened and lots of folks went in.

A Mr. Saulsbury or Saulsberry, I never did quite catch it, introduced himself to me and asked where I was from. I told him Canyon and he said he works for U. S. News and World Report.

He wanted to know where Canyon is. I told him.

He wanted to know the population. I told him around 5,000. I told him Canyon is a college town and he wanted to know what college. I told him. He said, "oh."

He wanted to know how the economy is holding up. I told him pretty well considering the shortage of rain and crops of late. I told him I didn't think many people were going to get dog rich if something doesn't happen.

He wanted to know if Canyon has any small industries outside the college and I told him we didn't. He said he supposed that lots of people live in Canyon and work in Amarillo and I said there were quite a few, maybe somewhere between 500 and 700 or maybe even more.

He said the Panhandle between Woodward and Clovis looks worse from the air than the area right around Clovis does from the air.

About that time he had to leave to catch the plane and asked if I was flying on to Tucson. I wasn't, so we said goodbye.

So everyone loaded back up on the busses and drove to the flight line.

Those in the Presidential party went through the reverse procedure and they all flew away.

We understood that the Secretary of the Interior was along, but there didn't seem to be many of us who were able to pick him out of the crowd.

Back at the officers club again, Maj. Anderson thanked us for being guests of the base, and the last I saw of him he was headed for the bar.

Those of us from around here didn't find out what the President learned at Clovis. But Gov. Mechem said that at least the President had seen the drought for himself. —Bill Cherry.
